MILO

Weekly Task Sheet — Week 4

Week of April 28, 2026 — Big changes this week. New roles. Higher standards. No more patience for half-effort.

What changed this week

Three promotions. Two last chances. One team restructure. This week Milo stops being a startup where things slide and starts being one where people are accountable to real roles with real ownership.
The north star for this week is one thing: the first reel goes live. Everything else supports that.

New roles — effective immediately

These promotions reflect consistent delivery over the past weeks. With the title comes real ownership — not just a label.

Person	New Role	What they own
Aamya	Social Media Head	Owns Instagram — content calendar, posting schedule, quality of everything that goes live. Reports to Anadi.
Prapti	Operations Head	Runs Wednesday check-ins, tracks task status across the team, flags blockers to Anadi, handles onboarding for new joiners.
Pooja	Delhi Admin	Manages Delhi WhatsApp group, oversees Delhi interns, feeds local event intel to Aamya weekly.
Minhaj	Tech Lead (incoming)	Will own Notion restructure in 2 weeks once M series has momentum. Flagged now so he can start thinking about it.

Minhaj's Notion role is flagged but not active yet — he picks it up in 2 weeks when M series has momentum.

Creative direction — read before making anything

Gayatri's moodboard goes out before Wednesday. Before anyone on the marketing team makes a post, a reel, or any content this week — look at the moodboard first.

Milo does not look like BookMyShow. Milo does not look like a college fest page. Milo has two faces one has white backgrounds or pastel colours, other has aura colours and oled black. If your design could belong to any other brand — it is wrong. Start again.

Check-in cadence

Wednesday — one update per person in group chat. Prapti collects, flags blockers to Anadi.
Friday 10 PM — full team call. Progress, blockers, next week tasks. Ayan chairs, Anadi tracks.

From Ayan — CEO, Milo

We are two month from beta. The team that gets us there is the team that shows up this week. Everyone else has already made their decision.
